

ABOUT

In spite of the rapid changes in the media, the ground rules have remained the same: the newspaper reader turns the pages, the television viewer flicks from channel to channel and the Internet user who finds the material displayed uninteresting clicks forward. An "attractive package" of information and entertainment is therefore a must. It is to this very aspect that NCrypted has turned its attention, and it prepares the customer's message in keeping with the target group's requirements.

NCrypted is a web and multimedia firm providing high-end online and offline solutions for small to large-scale businesses.

Following a briefing, we develop according to the customer needs and regarding to its expected audience. Among other things, this general concept includes the results of a structural analysis, design and animation studies, and sound and music selections, in addition to project management from the earliest stage right through to its successful completion and beyond. Our core expertise relates to the fields of web design and programming [PHP | XML | Ajax | JS], Flash and 2D Animations, visualization of communications and media, graphics design, internet and search marketing.
